4.7 THE CAROLINGIAN EMPIRE

The Carolingian Empire was a territorial and political division of the Franks from ca. 500 until Charles became King of the Franks. Charlemagne's Conquests included expansions into the Islamic World and the Byzantine Empire. The Empire included the Frankish Kingdom, East Frankish Kingdom, West Frankish Kingdom, Middle Kingdom, and the Byzantine Empire. The map shows the extent of the Carolingian Empire and its neighboring regions.